

Sheridan College Thickman Faculty Lecture Series

Native American Hunting Rights & Federalism Herrera vs Wyoming

Presented by

Michael Thomas

- ◆ History of treaties involving hunting rights—Treaty of Fort Laramie 1868
- ◆ Story of Calvin Herrera and the Wyoming Game and Fish Department
- ◆ Supreme Court interpretation of Herrera vs. Wyoming
- ◆ What happens next—Implications for the future
- ◆ Issues with Federalism today

WHERE: Kinnison Hall in Sheridan College Whitney Center for the Arts

Or

Streaming online at: www.sheridan.edu/lectures

WHEN: Thursday February 3, 2022

TIME: 7:00 PM

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Sheridan College Foundation (307) 675-0700

Free Admission

The Faculty Lecture Series is funded by the Thickman Lecture Endowment

Michael Thomas serves as adjunct faculty at Sheridan & Gillette College teaching History of Wyoming and Wyoming Government. He holds an Associate's degree in History from Casper College, a Bachelor's of Arts degree in Secondary Education and Social Studies from the University of Wyoming, as well as a Master of Arts degree in American History from American Public University. He is a public school teacher with ten years of teaching experience.

